Primary Project in the Aftermath of COVID-19

The COVID-19 pandemic has had a detrimental impact on children's mental and social-emotional wellness, and the need to address elementary-aged children's mental health has become an urgent issue for schools.

We are looking for more schools to join us in Year 3 of our randomized-controlled trial (RCT)!

This study aims to study the effectiveness of Primary Project on children's social-emotional adjustment.

If your program:

- Uses the Teacher-Child Rating Scale (T-CRS) for screening and post-data collection,
- Conducts a two-cycle program, and
- Is interested in advancing research on Primary Project

Then this opportunity may be right for your school!

In return:

- Costs for T-CRS measures are waived for schools participating in this important work!
