

The Whole Child Connection at Children's Institute will facilitate a transformation in settings where children grow, learn, and play so that all adults intentionally foster the social, emotional, physical, and cognitive skills young people need to be successful.

For more information, contact:

connection@childrensinstitute.net

274 N. Goodman St.

Suite D103

Rochester, NY 14607

(877) 888-7647

[www.childrensinstitute.net/
whole-child-connection](http://www.childrensinstitute.net/whole-child-connection)

How We Work

We differentiate ourselves from other organizations by:

- Creating sustained collaboration, authentic working relationships, and customized services
- Providing training, consultation, and supports grounded in research and informed by data
- Conducting action-oriented research and evaluation that is informed by practitioners
- Supporting individuals and programs to transform systems
- Working across multiple settings that serve children to achieve systemic change

Who We Work With

In order to transform the system of care and education, we work across settings including:

- Pre-K to grade 12 schools and districts
- Early education and child care sites
- Afterschool, expanded, and summer learning programs
- Higher education
- Child health providers

What Is Whole Child Development?

We recognize four primary areas necessary to supporting whole child development:

- Fostering healthy relationships
- Creating safe and secure environments
- Cultivating skills and competencies
- Building healthy habits